The Woodward & Lothrop Parcel Post Free Delivery.

This Parcel Post Free Delivery was inaugurated at the beginning of the year for the purpose of working in conjunction with the government, and to furnish out-of-town patrons and all nonresidents of Washington the same opportunity in shopping facilities as enjoyed by our local clientele. Its advantages are marked and decidedly profitable to all who utilize it, and we are pleased with the prospects it offers and the readiness with which it has been accepted by the public.

Leave your name and address at one of the information desks or with any floor manager and let us mail you, without charge, a copy of the Universal Parcel Post Map, published by us, which enables you to determine the parcel post charges from any post-office to another.

This Parcel Post Free Delivery permits the delivery of practically all purchases, anywhere in the United States, by Parcel Post, at no greater cost than if shopping in person directly over our counters.

Parcels weighing four ounces or less, provided the purchase amounts to $1.00 or more, will be delivered FREE anywhere in the United States.

Parcels Weighing from 1 to 11 Pounds Will Be Delivered Free According to the Following Table:

SOCIETY

The President and Mrs. Taft last night and night at the White House were planned to include as many social and farewell events as possible. A number of friends lunched informally with Mrs. Taft at the White House, where Miss Taft, who had spent the morning reviewing and editing brief farewell calls, joined them.

In the afternoon Mrs. Taft occupied one of the boxes on the reviewing stand to witness the parade. She was accompanied by Mrs. A. Garrison McClellan, Mrs. Horace Westcott, and Miss Lettman.

The President-elect and Mrs. Wilson, accompanied by the members of their family, arrived at the Shoreham Hotel at 4:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The first automobile contained the President-elect and Mrs. Wilson, Mr. W. C. Easton and Dr. Page, who had escorted them from the station. In the next automobile were the Misses Wilson and Col. Birch and Col. Conby. Mrs. Wilson wore a severe but very chic suit of black velvet, the skirt being cut to escape the ground, and with it she wore a small black hat and sable fur. Miss Eleanor Wilson wore a plainly tailored gown of tan broadcloth with red fox fur and a tall toque. Miss Margaret was attired in a suit of black velvet trimmed with braid, while Miss Josie looked very charming in a suit of dark blue velvet.

Mrs. Wilson went immediately to her apartments, where, after a short talk with the many relatives who were gathered there to greet her, she changed her costume for one of black charmeuse, the bodice exquisitely trimmed with rare lace, an heirloom Mrs. Wilson explained. Some one asked if it was a sample of the gown $1,000 a year would provide. Over this Mrs. Wilson wore a loose wrap of black and gold brocade. It was bordered with fur. A large black picture hat trimmed with one large yellow-brown plume completed her costume. Col. Conby awaited the President-elect and Mrs. Wilson in the lobby and assisted them to the White House. At the entrance Mrs. Wilson was received by President Taft, who offered her his arm to escort her to the Green Room, where Mrs. and Miss Taft awaited them. Lieut. Rodgers and Lieut. St. John Greble, Jr. were on duty at the Green Room. The outgoing and incoming "first ladies" spent about ten minutes in the most cordial conversation, which it is understood turned principally on the duties of chaperone, which the one was laying down and the other taking up.

Mrs. Taft wore a gown of embroidered black satin and a dog collar of pearls, in which she had two hours earlier received the chiefs of the Diplomatic Corps and their wives—about fifty in all. Only the scene was changed, for the earlier reception took place in the Red Room, where tea was served. Mrs. Taft received the Diplomatic Corps alone for the President and Mrs. Taft, the ladies of the Cabinet being present in the for them, unique role of callers. It is the first time that an outgoing Executive and his wife have received the Diplomatic Corps en masse. The chiefs of the Diplomatic Corps, with the dean, have, in almost every instance, made a farewell call on the President, and in some isolated occasions the wives of the Ambassadors have requested an audience with the President's wife. Mrs. Taft has many warm women friends in the diplomatic set, and not a few tokens of their esteem, in the shape of flowers, were presented to her to-day. Mrs. Taft, in her turn, is said to have presented her autographed photograph to a number of the diplomatic wives. Some of the carriages were just rolling out as the President-elect and Mrs. Wilson arrived. President Taft escorted Mrs. Wilson to her car, and with the same gentle courtesy which has endeared him to the hearts of the women of Washington.

The President and Mrs. Taft were the guests of honor at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. William J. Boardman last night. Four years ago they also dined with the same host and hostess.

The President-elect and Mrs. Woodward Wilson and the Misses Wilson were entertained at dinner last night in the lobby of the Shoreham Hotel by Mr. Wilson's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Wilson. The guests were President-elect and Mrs. Wilson, Miss Margaret Wilson, Miss Josie Wilson, Miss Eleanor Wilson, Mrs. Annie Howe, Miss Bones, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wilson, Miss Elizabeth Wilson, Mr. Wayne Blackley, Mr. and Mrs. John McC. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. William McC. Wilson, Miss Elizabeth McC. Wilson, Mrs. S. S. Leach, Mrs. Roger Lee, Mrs. W. W. Stark, Mrs. Perry Corbett, Mr. Edwin Stark, Miss Alice Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Wilson, Mrs. Luce, Mr. and Mrs. Fern, Dr. Ashley Axson, Mr. Walter, Mr. Edwin Wilson, and Mrs. Mac Coy.

Miss Helen Taft was the guest in the White House last night. The Secretary of State and Mrs. Chandler Hale entertained at dinner last night.

Mrs. Christian Hage gave a dinner last night in honor of the Attorney General and Mrs. Wickersham. Covers were laid for twenty-four.

Former American Ambassador to France and Mrs. Henry White entertained at a large dinner last night at their residence in Crescent Place.

Miss Flora Wilson, daughter of the Secretary of Agriculture, gave a luncheon yesterday at the New Willard, her guests being Mrs. Pezet, Senora Dona Luz Mendez, Senora Ramona Lefevre, Mme. Christian Hage, Mrs. Dickerson (wife of former Secretary of War), Mrs. Claude Swanson, Mrs. Charles Thomas (wife of Senator from Colorado), Mrs. Henry P. Dimock, Mrs. Herrick of Paris, Mrs. DeWitt Talmage, Mrs. William Bailey Lammie, Mrs. Horace Bennett, of Denver; Mrs. Ritchie, of Denver; Mrs. Perry Heath, Mrs. Marie Brice, of New York; Mrs. Elmer Black, of New York; Mrs. George W. Fairchild, Miss Grace Affen, of Asheville, N. C.; Mrs. N. W. Harris, of New York; Mrs. Benjamin McCou, Mrs. Charles McKenny, Mrs. Ronald-French, of London, and Mrs. William Bailey Horton, of Buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. William McC. Wilson entertained at dinner Monday night in one of the private dining-rooms at the Shoreham, having as his guests Mr. and Mrs. John A. Wilson, Mr. Edwin Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred McC. Wilson, Miss Elizabeth Wilson, and Mr. Wayne Blackley and little Miss Elizabeth Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. William McC. Wilson arrived from Franklin, Pa., yesterday afternoon at the Shoreham and joined the other members of the Wilson family here. Mrs. Wilson is well known in Washington as Miss Celia Shibley, daughter of former Representative J. C. Shibley from Franklin, Pa.

Miss Emily Glover, of Georgetown, is visiting in Jacksonville, Fla., Mrs. William P. Conrad.

Mr. J. Wilson Woodrow and his sister, Mrs. H. Woodrow Wells, of Denver, cousins of President-elect Wilson, are at the Hotel Powhatan.

Miss Mary A. Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Randall Webb, has been visiting here during the inauguration. The Misses Moore, of New York City, daughter of the Hon. John Bassett Moore, and Charlotte Baker, of Frederick, Md., daughter of Mr. Joseph D. Baker, of that place.

Representative and Mrs. Sweet gave a reception last night in compliment to their house guests, the Governor of Michigan and Mrs. Ferris, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward O. Wood, of Flint, Mich.

In their receiving party were Senator and Mrs. William Alden Smith, Representative and Mrs. Doremus, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vender, of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Mrs. Wallace Radcliffe, Judge and Mrs. Montgomery; Miss Wood, Miss Whittman, and Miss Sweet. The Governor's staff was also in attendance, and the members of the Michigan militia in the city were received first.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Caldwell entertained at luncheon to-day at the University Club in honor of Gov. Charles H. Miller of Delaware and Mrs. Miller, and President Joseph Swain, of Swarthmore College, and Mrs. Swain, all the guests, as well as the hosts, being graduates of Swarthmore College.

The additional guests were Representative and Mrs. A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Pyle, Miss Miller, Miss Marie Davis, Thomas Cochran, Thomas Miller, Secretary of State of Delaware, and E. D. Caldwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Edson Bradley will have more than 60 West Point cadets and officers at luncheon with them this afternoon. Forty girl friends of Mrs. Bradley will assist her in the entertainment of the cadets. It was the desire of Mr. and Mrs. Bradley to have some members of the families of the cadets meet them at the luncheon, but the party would have grown into thousands, and they were compelled to keep the list strictly confined to the cadets and the forty other invited guests.

The Vice President-elect and Mrs. Marshall were the guests of honor at a dinner last night given by Mr. and Mrs. John E. Lamb and Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Foley, of Terre Haute. The Indiana delegation in the Senate and House and a few other Indiana people formed the party, which was entertained at the
